COMPUTERIZED ELECTRO-DERMAL SCREENING (CEDS)

HISTORY OF CEDS

Balancing cellular energy to provide changes to the well-being of an individual is an old practice, and is based on the Chinese Medical procedure of Acupuncture. The theory is based upon the belief that imbalanced body energy is caused by improper energy flow throughout the body's system.

This testing was developed by Dr. Voll and Dr. Werner of Germany in the early 1940's. We now have the advantage of computers that enable testing and storage of the information gathered from the test. This equipment is both a sophisticated program and computer hardware designed to not only test the energy from the body, but also generate a magnetic signal unique to individual products that allows testing of substances against the individual.

WHAT IS CEDS?

Computerized Electro-Dermal Screening (CEDS) is a test of body energy using the Acupuncture points. By using these points, some causes of allergies and ailments related to energy in the body may be determined.

BENEFITS OF BEING TESTED:

Balanced hormones, healthier skin, reduced sinus congestion, healthier & stronger body, and it helps with cellular detox.

As well as improved:

- Energy
- Sleep
- Digestion & Elimination
- Cognitive Thought
- Circulation
- Immune System
- Lymphatic Flow
- Lab results

HOW IT WORKS!

A painless electrical current of 5 volts is inputted into the body and a measurement of that energy is recorded at the Acupuncture points, mostly on the hands and feet. It is at these points that the galvanic resistance is the lowest and the amount of resistance gives us insight into the balance of the body. The organs and tissues are all connected by meridians. The energy of all the organs can be measured and relates to the health of the organs. By inputting the magnetic frequency unique to each substance, we find what irritates, balances, or depresses the energy of the system.

In summary, CEDS is a customized supplemental nutrition program for the individual.
